Year 3 Newsletter

Last week we were learning....

all things Geography! On Friday we celebrated Geography day. The children learnt about human and physical features, they then took this outside and identified them around out school and school grounds. We also continued out topic 'What is planet Earth in danger?' by researching endangered animals from the WWF website. We will use this information next week when the children will produce informative PowerPoints about their chosen endangered animals.

Year 3 enjoyed their trip to the Queen's Theatre. They showed respect when looking at the many props and listened well to all the information given to them. They asked brilliant questions relating to the performances shown at the Queen's Theatre over the years. Well done!

This week we will be learning....

more about nappies in our Science 'Nappy Challenge'. The children will be testing different brands of nappies to find out which is the most absorbent and recording their results on a bar chart. They will then evaluate their results and conclude which nappy brand is the best.

This week the children will be beginning a new unit in maths all about shape. They will begin by understanding angles and identifying them on shapes. They will be learning new key vocabulary including 'right angle', 'obtuse' and 'acute'.

In French, the children will be continuing to learn about the members of their family. This week they will learn how to ask others if they have siblings and to answer this question themselves.

Don't Forget!

On Friday 27th is inflatable day! Please ensure your child is wearing sun cream!

As the weather continues to stun, please ensure that the children have a bottle of water and a hat (labelled with their name) each day, and that sun cream is applied before coming to school.
