Dear families,

Another fun week of learning in the schools has taken place. This week was Maths Week, and children were busy solving challenges on their Maths Trails. There were great Design Technology opportunities too, with maths games and books being made to measure.

We welcomed Ofsted to our Infants school this week. Our children shone brightly, as they always do, and made us very proud.

We are looking to develop some growing areas in the school and we would be very grateful if you could search your garden sheds for any seeds or soil that you may have. In particular we are hoping to develop some sensory feature areas and a fruit and veg area too. Any donations would be greatly appreciated, and could be left at either school entrance area. We are still collecting books too, and donations are gladly received. Thank you – as ever – for your kind generosity!

Please can we politely request that parents who drive to school park in a manner that is considerate to our neighbours, as again we have received several complaints from residents.

We have a busy week ahead next week, with flu immunisations on Monday across both schools. It is also the start of Advent next week and we will all be busy preparing for Christmas fesitivities. It is also Interfaith Week next week, whereby we will explore the common values of different faiths and celebrate diversity in our community.

With the weather turning colder, please do ensure that children come in with warm coats, and that all hats and gloves are labelled. Like last year, we are ensuring that classes are well ventilated, in order to keep us safe. Whilst we do, of course, keep the heating on, you may well wish to send your child in with an extra layer or a body warmer, for example, to keep them comfortable in class.

Have a lovely weekend!
