Year 5 Newsletter

Last week we were learning....

As scientists, the children developed their understanding about reversible and irreversible changes. The children were very excited to have chocolate as a focus for investigating how heat causes a reversible change.

The children explored free verse poetry with a focus around 'What is bravery?', linking to our class text where the main characters are living in war-torn Beirut. The children have really immersed themselves into the text and have been showing compassion and empathy towards the characters in our lessons. There was a real buzz around the launch of the Year 5 Enterprise project! The children have been thinking about ideas for products they will make for the Summer Fair- watch this space! Congratulations to 5WB for their spectacular class assembly. Don't forget that this week, it is 5W'S turn on Thursday 20th June.

This week we will be learning....

The children will be completing assessments this week; a chance to showcase their knowledge and understanding! They have worked so hard all year and we know that they will use the BUILD values to support them. We will be continuing with our Enterprise project - carrying out market research, costs and most importantly, thinking about profit! When the project is over, the children will be able to think about how they would like to spend the profit as a class. As you can imagine, lots of ideas have started to air. During French, the children will start to learn all about the solar system. We know that the children will be able to use their prior knowledge from our science learning to support them.

Don't Forget!

Homework is due on a Monday so please remember to bring in your CGP book in. Also please remember spelling books.
